STAND OVER ABATTOIR 'JUSTIFIED'

The Town Planning Appeals Tribunal's report on the proposed Derrimut abattoir "justified" Altona's stand on the issue, Altona mayor, Cr. Grant, said yesterday.

Cr. Grant was commenting on the tribunal's ruling that the Board of Works had made an invalid decision to allow an abattoir in Derrimut.

Altona Council, together with Sunshine Council and 1300 residents from the area, lodged objections to Board of Works approval of the project.

In a 17-page report after last month's six-day appeals hearing, the Town Planning Appeals Tribunal ruled the permit invalid on three grounds:

- The permit had been granted by the board's planning committee and not the full board.

- The Board of Works had not decided whether the permit would cause substantial detriment to any person other than Protean.

It failed to consider all the objections lodged.

In its report, the tribunal explained it had no right to determine them in the circumstances. It also had no power to make a direction on the non-issue of a permit.

In effect, the tribunal did not make a decision on whether the abattoir should be built or not, but simply threw out the appeal on a technicality.

Cr. Grant said the battle to stop the Derrimut abattoir still wasn't over.

"I understand the application can still be heard at a court of higher jurisdiction, and for this reason I must be guarded in any comment I make," he said.

"However the determination is pleasing in as much that if a fresh application is made the tribunal has indicated that it will expect the application to be advertised and the public given the right to make an objection," he said.

Cr. Grant said that reports in the daily Press that stated that no representations were made on behalf of Altona Council were "inaccurate."

"Altona Council lodged an objection with the MMBW on November 17, 1976... and the notice of defence by the MMBW was issued on December 16 — in the knowledge of the objection by Altona Council."

Cr. Grant said that Altona Council wanted the land in question to be rezoned.

The land, called zone 7, covers about 2500 acres and has been set aside for saleyards and abattoirs since 1926.

"Altona Council believes that there should be a rezoning of the area and that no further obnoxious industries should be permitted to develop in the area, which is close to residential areas in Laverton, Altona Meadows and Glengala State," he said.

He said that council was waiting on a report from the Meat Industries Council on the re-location of the Newmarket saleyards.

"The council strongly opposes its re-location in this area, because of the effects it would have on the nearby residential areas, as well as running off into Cherry Lake."

'Interference' claim on council elections

Altona's new mayor, Cr. Doug Grant, has claimed that former Sunshine councillors were actively involved in the recent Altona elections.

In his inaugural mayoral speech, shortly after being installed as mayor for 1977-78 last Friday, Cr. Grant said:

"... as a councillor and resident of Altona for many years, I deplore the degree of support from an outer Altona area which was thrown into the recent election campaign."

"In most cases, the people concerned did not run their own municipality properly and have now made an attempt to interfere in the affairs of Altona — a most deplorable happening — in an attempt to re-introduce politics into the local government scene in Altona," he said.

Cr. Grant said he was distributing "how-to-vote" cards for the Altona Ratepayers Association ticket at polling booths for many hours and noticed several former Sunshine councillors also handing out cards.

The three candidates on the ratepayers' ticket, Crs. Clement, Graham and Hosken, were all elected while Mrs. Smith, who stood as an independent, missed out.

Cr. Grant would not be drawn into saying whether the former Sunshine councillors were assisting Mrs. Smith in her campaign.

But the fact remains that she was the only other candidate standing for the council.

Mrs. Smith, who lives in Miller Road, Altona, runs a snack bar in Sunshine, and her husband, Russell Smith, is a former Sunshine councillor.

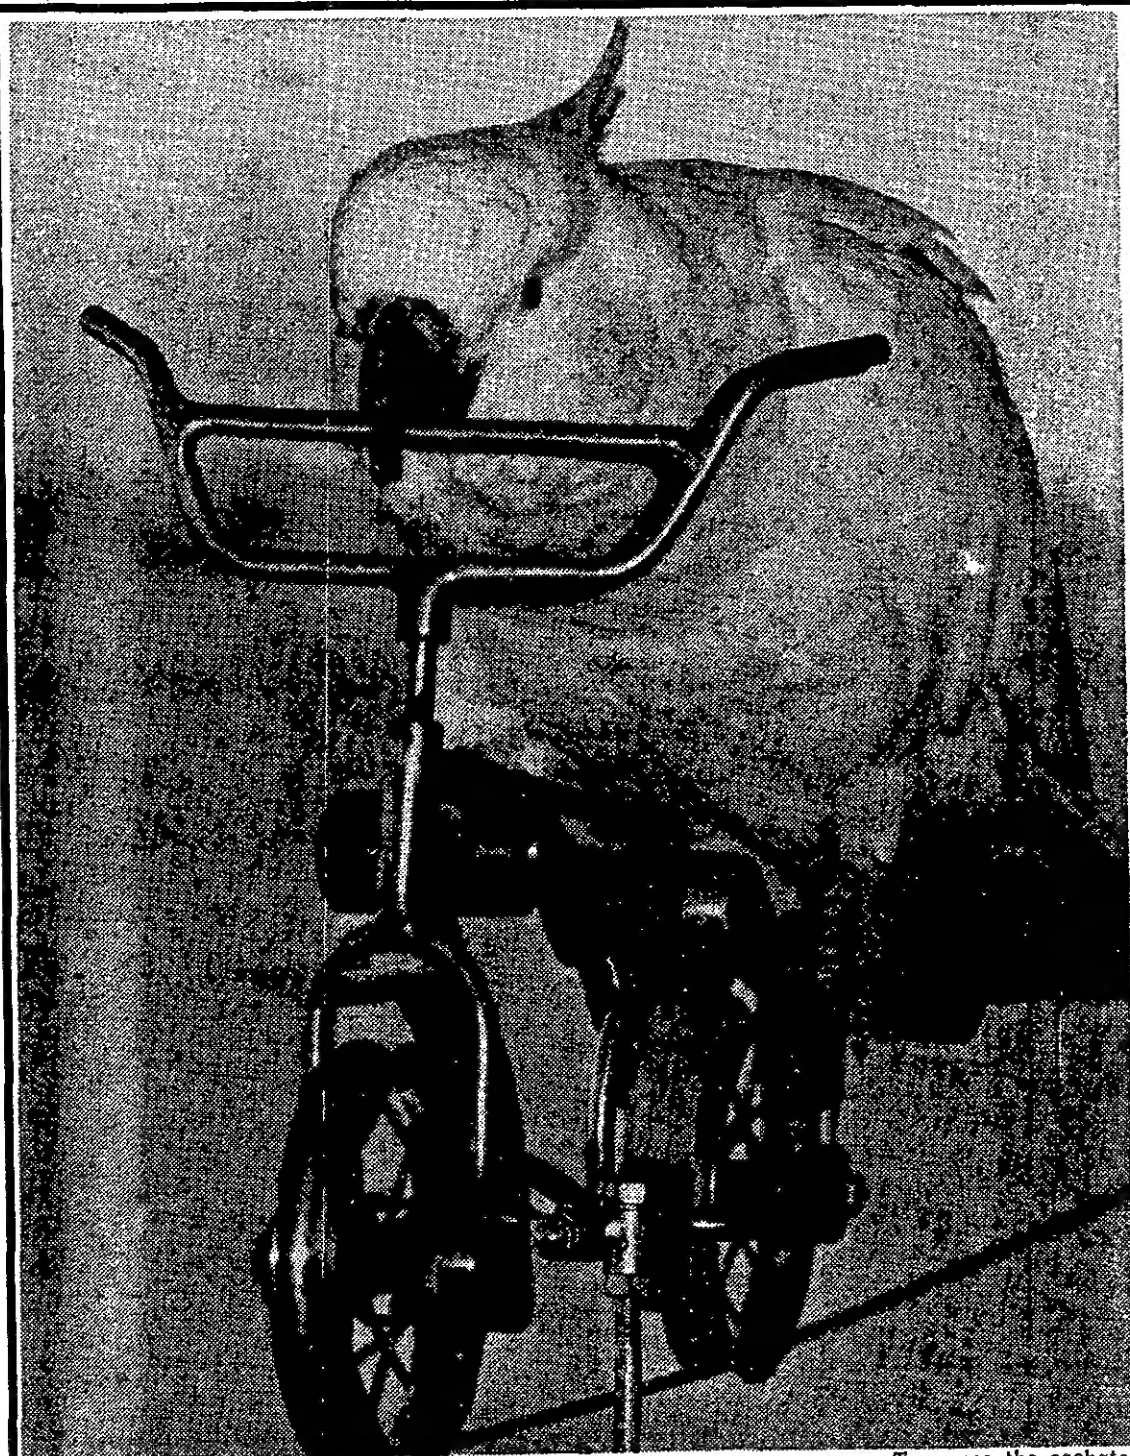

She is the secretary of the local branch of the Australian Democrats Party but has stated several times that she doesn't believe in politics in local government.

In The Star last week, Mrs. Smith denied that Democrat Party members helped in handing out how to vote cards.

Altona's new mayor, Cr. Doug Grant. Cr. Grant previously served a term as mayor in 1970-71.

The Lion Park established five years ago on a 147-acre site, features a wide assortment of animals apart from lions, including Canadian brown bears, American bison, Australian water buffalos, red and fallow deer, an elephant, camels, donkeys and prize cattle.

Mr. Greg Bullen, the managing director of the park said the complex represents an investment of $11 million.

He says he is known as the "eccentric millionaire" because of the crazy things he does

TWO ENJOYING THE BACK SEAT

As the curtain rang down on this year's council elections in Williamstown, there were at least two people who could settle back and smile. Read about them on this page.

Baker Charlie

Charlie Bates simply went back to his baking — full time — when he retired from the council. The Star-Advertiser photographer caught him at work (picture above).

Former mayor and Centre Ward councillor for nine years, Charles Bates, 46, said he retired because "he needed a break from local politics."

But mainly to spend more time with his family.

Most people will know him as "Charlie the Baker," of Douglas Parade.

The bakery business has been in the Bates family since 1886.

Looking relaxed after the torrid last few months of council, Mr. Bates said he was already enjoying his 'retirement.'

On his first free night, he took his wife, Lorraine, and teenage children Mark, Robin and Stephen ice skating. He hinted that he will try to get back into council later.

Meanwhile, instead of worrying about rates and rubbish collections, he's going to concentrate on baking bread and apple pies.

He won't abandon his interest in the council altogether.

"It becomes a habit you know," he said.

Mrs. Esther Lalor, pictured at home, has just finished a year as lady mayoress, supporting husband Peter, the retiring mayor.

And for Mrs. Lalor, it has been "quite a year."

She is studying for her HSC this year, but still managed to attend most council meetings during Peter's mayoral year.

A 36-year-old mother of two (Janita is 14 and Brett, 12), Mrs. Lalor wants to become a nurse.

After 16 years of marriage and "going along with what Peter was doing", she's branching out and doing her own thing!

Although she enjoyed her role as mayoress, she would like to see a more defined role for the mayor's wife in future.

"There are no rules laid down... I tried to help as much as I could, but there should be a more defined role."

"For example, in the Melbourne Council they have the lady mayoress's committee which raises funds for worthy charities."

She feels the role of women in council affairs is improving.

"We used to take a back seat, just there to provide the meals and the cups of tea."

"Today's women are a capable lot. They don't wait for things to happen. They take a more active role."

"I think it's a sign of what the future holds for women in Williamstown."

Mother fined $150 for shoplifting

An Altona North mother of five children was fined $150 at Footscray Court last Thursday for stealing a wall clock valued at $25 from McEwans' Footscray store on August 18.

And she was told by Mr William Guy, SM, because she had a previous court appearance on a shoplifting charge she was fortunate not to be sent to prison.

He said the normal action of Footscray Court was to impose a prison sentence when a person faced the court a second time, but because she had a family he would not jail her.

Mrs Lina Portelli, of Windsor Crescent, Altona North, pleaded guilty. She was not represented by counsel.

Senior-Detective Steve Quinsee said when he interviewed Mrs Portelli she said when she picked the clock up she intended putting it on lay-by.

While she had the clock she spoke to the store manager about possible employment for her daughter, she said.

She then left the store without paying for it.

To Detective Sergeant W. T. Thompson, prosecuting, Mrs Portelli admitted she faced Williamstown Court in February, 1973, on a shoplifting charge and was released on a $50, six-months, good-behavior bond.

A priest stood in court — he offered to give evidence — and said Mrs Portelli was a family person and was upset about the incident.

He said he would do all he could to ensure the same thing did not happen again.

To Mr Guy, Mrs Portelli said both she and her husband worked.

The magistrate ordered that in default of payment of the fine, Mrs Portelli be jailed for 15 days.

NEW ANTI-URANIUM GROUP IN WEST

A new anti-uranium group has been formed in the western suburbs.

Celebration Day at St Stephens

Next Sunday will be Celebration Day at St. Stephen's Uniting Church, Melbourne Road, Williamstown.

And it will be the start of several activities within the church.

The week's celebrations will end with the Westside Singers taking part in the 9.30 am service on Sunday, September 18.

The annual concert at St. Stephens will be on Friday and Saturday, September 16 and 17 and tickets are available by calling 391 5210.

Plans for services next Sunday at churches in Williamstown Uniting Church Parish:

St. Johns, Williamstown — 10 am, Mr. G. Bratby; 7 pm, the Rev. W. Barnes.

St. Stephen's Williamstown — 9.30 am, The Rev. Chester Hodge.

Westgate Church, Newport West — 11 am, Mr. Russell Dancy.

Hudson Road, Spotswood — 10.45 am, the Rev. Laurance Slee.

Stevedore Street, Williamstown — 11 am, Miss D. McNeill.

The Western Suburbs Movement Against Uranium Mining wants to actively involve people living in the west in the campaign to stop the mining of Australia's uranium deposits.

A member of the group, Mr. Ian Walters said: "The use of Australia's uranium will allow further expansion of the nuclear arms industry." "Use of the fuel in nuclear reactors creates extremely toxic wastes which last for 250,000 years," he added.

"The fact that there is no safe method of storing these wastes poses the greatest single threat to the survival of the human race."

WSMAUM is concerned at the control international corporations have over our sources of energy and "the control they will exercise over the direction of our economic development."

Supporters are invited to attend the group's fortnightly meetings which will organise distribution of information, public meetings and film showings.

People interested in joining the movement can contact Anna Boland on 689 4133.

Punched windscreen, court is told

An Altona North laborer put his fist through the windscreen of a car that had stopped to allow him and his two children to cross an intersection, Footscray Court was told last Thursday.

The incident was at the intersection of Millers and Blackshaws roads, Altona North, about 12.30 pm last April 11.

Joe Misser, of Blackshaws Road, pleaded not guilty to a wilful damage charge.

Mr. William Guy, SM, fined him $150, with $10 witness costs, or 16 days imprisonment. He also ordered him to pay $105 compensation for the broken windscreen.

Mr. Michael Lynch, student schoolteacher, of Roberts Street, West Footscray, gave evidence he was driving in Millers Road when he saw Misser and two children crossing at the intersection of Blackshaws Road.

The lights were green in his favor, he said. He stopped and waved Misser to go ahead and the two children crossed the road.

Misser did not, so he drove past him. As he did, Misser punched the windscreen out of his car.

Asked if he had any questions to ask Mr. Lynch, Misser said, "I believe he's lying, for a start."

Mr. Peter Gater, of Shanks Street, Newport, gave evidence he was travelling in front of Mr.

Lynch and saw the incident.

He said when Mr. Lynch got out of his car, Misser pushed him.

Misser told Mr. Guy, "I believe that they planned this."

Police said after Mr. Lynch reported the incident at Footscray police station they interviewed Misser the next day.

He claimed he held his hand up to stop the traffic and Mr. Lynch's car windscreen collided with it, smashing it accidentally.

Misser said in an unsworn statement to the court the lights were green in his favor when he began to cross Millers Road, with his children.

They turned red before he finished crossing and he held his hand up to stop traffic, because he feared for his children.

This was when the windscreen of Mr. Lynch's car was smashed, he said, and added, "I believe I shouldn't be held responsible."

Sergeant Tim Pepperkemp, prosecuting, said Misser had no police record.

Mr. Guy said he accepted the sworn evidence of two witnesses against the unsworn statement made by Misser.

Misser's behavior had been, "to say the least, a stupid thing to do."

He would have been inclined to send Misser to prison if he had a police record, Mr. Guy added.

St. Eanswythe's Church, Altona, was the setting for the marriage of Deborah Southall and Nathaniel Little. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Southall, of Grieve Parade, Altona. The groom, too, is from Altona. He is the eldest son of Mrs. E. Little, of Civic Parade, and the late Mr. J. Little. Helen Eclcardt attended the bride. John Saxton was best man. — Photo by Barry Sutton (397 6013).

Mission Chief will visit

The secretary of the Church Missionary Society, the Rev. Phillip Oliver, will visit St. Mark's Anglican Church, Spotswood next Sunday.

Mr. Oliver will be guest preacher at the 9 am Holy Communion service.

Sunday School will follow, at 10.15 am.

A crazy whist evening will be held at 7.45 on Friday at Mrs. Woolstencroft's house.

The Sunday School Mothers Club meets at 9.30 am next Tuesday and Gods Band meets from 2.45 pm to 4.45 pm the same day, in the Church Hall.

Mrs. Bock's house is the venue for a Mothers Union meeting at 1.30 pm next Wednesday and a fellowship meeting will be at Mr. Chaplin's house at 7.30.

CORNERS SAFETY CALL

The Chief Secretary, Mr. Dickie, has been asked to take immediate action to have two intersections in Fitzgerald Road, Laverton North and Deer Park, made safe.

The call was made yesterday by the Labor candidate for Werribee at the next State elections, Dr. Ken Coghill.

The intersections are with Boundary Road and Dohertys Road.

Dr. Coghill said both intersections had been the scene of fatal and near-fatal collisions recently, as well as one-car accidents.

Contributing factors to the danger were that Boundary Road did not run directly across Fitzgerald Road and the Dohertys Road intersection was marked by poor visibility and a lack of warning signs.

It was disgraceful there had not been safety measures taken at the intersections, in view of the high accident rate, Dr. Coghill said.

"Once again, the Liberals are showing their lack of concern for Melbourne's western region," he added.

Altona City engineer Mr. Ralph Simmons tabled the following report at last week's council meeting:

Kyle Road Extension: Construction of concrete kerb and channelling at the northern end of Kyle Road leading to the Forest Commission property was finished.

Victoria Street, Altona Meadows: Construction of concrete kerb and channelling in Victoria Street between North Avenue and Alma Avenue was finished.

Blackshaws Road and Broadway Intersection: In connection with the construction of a turning lane and traffic island at the intersection of Blackshaws Road and Broadway, a water main was lowered, and earthworks and concrete work associated with the turning lane were finished.

Blackshaws Road — footpath: Excavation of a path bed along the south side of Blackshaws Road adjoining St. Paul's College was started.

Reserves — top dressing: Top dressing of the main oval on W. L. J. Crofts Reserve in preparation for the cricket season is in progress. Similar work is planned for A. W. Langshaw and A. W. Bond Reserves.

Committee room, Civic Centre: The fitting of an air-conditioning unit on the roof of the committee room was undertaken by the contractors, Crockford and Robertson Pty. Ltd. The Gas and Fuel Corporation will lay a gas service in the near future to connect with the unit.

School crossing — Altona West Primary School: Following the relocation of the bus stop in Grieve Parade to a site well clear of Belmar Avenue, the Road Safety and Traffic Authority approved a school crossing in Grieve Parade near the old bus stop.

New book on old Willi

A new book on the history of old Williamstown will be launched soon.

It is Williamstown Sketchbook, a series of sketches of historic buildings and other parts of Williamstown, with descriptions written by Williamstown's official historian, Mr. Wilson P. "Bill" Evans.

It is expected the book will be available in the next few weeks. It will be reviewed in the Advertiser next week.

Mr. Evans' history of Williamstown, Port of many Prows, which was published several years ago, was a sell-out.

It is understood a reprint is being considered.

Disabled Call for help

SIR. — It has become evident from the article which appeared in your paper on the disabled that there is a very great need that nobody is fulfilling.

We have in our community an elderly disabled person who cannot do her housework. Another, a widow who would gladly mend clothing in return for gardening or odd jobs around the house done by a bachelor or single or deserted man.

Perhaps an arrangement can be made through the printing of this letter in your paper. There may be other cases of a sick father or mother or single parents who need help in this manner.

The service would have, of necessity to be free and anyone needing help or anyone prepared to help run such a scheme is invited to ring me on 391 4680.

The volunteers could be retired men or women, with time on their hands. I must point out however, that in some cases cleaning of venetians and windows would need to be done.

I know that councils do housework for but they are not allowed to do window or venetian cleaning.

(Mrs) JOAN L. REHE 10 Fowler Cres, Newport, (391 4680).

The secret is helping each other

"Sixty years of happiness. We have helped one another through everything."

That's how Stephen and Violet Jessup (pictured), of Dover Road, Williamstown, summed up their married life together last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessup — he's 84 and she will be 86 soon — will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary tomorrow (September 8) with a "dinner for two" at home.

Last week, surrounded by their three sons, five grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren, the Jessups held an early celebration at the Strathmore home of son Jack.

"It wasn't a big party. We didn't want any fuss — just the family and a few close friends," they said.

Both were born in Williamstown, and have lived there all their lives.

Until he retired 14 years ago, Mr. Jessup worked in the wool-dumping store of the Victorian Stevedoring Company.

The two Jessups are in fine health. They attribute this to a "sweet life which held few worries."

They could remember only one trying time. That was during the Second World War when their sons Jack and Ron were away in the Navy.

"Jack was away on a battleship, and we didn't hear from him for two years. Then all his letters arrived in a heap," recalled Mrs. Jessup.

"The boys were away six years and, of course, we used to worry about them."

Full house for 'Gondoliers'

The Williamstown Light Opera Society had a full house on Friday, August 28, the opening night of its performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's The Gondoliers.

The show was a great success, writes Bev Murphy.

Brian Clough did a marvellous job conducting the orchestra through a most difficult musical score — typical of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Annette Foster, who portrayed Fiametta, had a nerve-racking experience on two counts.

Not only did she play the opening role, but she was also making a comeback to live stage after being away for some time.

The two Gondoliers were played by Allan Haggerty and Colin Simpson and Margaret Streader and Sandy Stiger were the wives.

Sandy was outstanding and literally threw herself into her role as Tessa.

Rodney Hunter, acting

• Rodney Hunter as the Duke

• Peter Kelly as the Don

the part of the Duke of Plasa-Toro, was most impressive and stole the limelight during the second half of the show.

Other players were Audrey Simpson in the role of the Duchess and Judith Evans as Casilda and John Yates as her lover, Luiz.

Peter Kelly was ideally suited to his role of Don Alhambra Del Bolera. His colorful appearance on stage won immediate applause from the audience. The production was directed by Margaret Proctor.

Married nearby

They were married "just a stone's throw away" at the Congregational Church in Stevedore Street, and have lived in their Dover Road home for more than 50 years.

"You don't want to make too many moves in your lifetime," said Mr. Jessup.

A keen gardener, Mrs. Jessup keeps busy looking after her home, and a large fernery, she keeps in the back.

She has been growing ferns since she was a little girl.

Mr. Jessup does all the odd jobs around the house, and helps with the gardening.

"That's been the secret of our happiness," said Mrs. Jessup. "Helping one another, doing things together."

"All we want is our family around us, and we'll be happy," he said.

Trespassed but he didn't steal

A charge of trespassing with intent to steal was changed to trespassing and stealing, then returned to the original charge and a conviction recorded at Footscray Court.

After hearing the evidence, Mr. William Guy, SM, said he could not find a charge to answer for stealing.

Douglas John Wayne, of Gentry Avenue, Altona North, pleaded not guilty to the trespassing and stealing charge but told Mr. Guy he had been in the Somerville Road, Yarraville, flat mentioned in the charge.

The original charge was amended on the application of the police prosecutor, Sergeant John Wuiske, of Footscray police.

Wayne was charged on the amended charge with trespassing in a flat occupied by David John Buchanan, and stealing a crash helmet and a set of keys valued at about $10.

Mr. Buchanan told the court he left his flat about 8 pm and returned about 1.30 am the next day, July 14. He found the flat had been entered through a broken window and the helmet, with the keys inside was missing.

To Wayne, he agreed a neighbor told him Wayne had been at the flat.

Buchanan said in reply to Sgt. Wuiske he had known Wayne for about four months and he had visited the flat a couple of times, but had no permission to go there that night.

Police said they interviewed Wayne on July 21. He said he knocked at the flat door about 10 pm and when there was no answer assumed Buchanan was asleep, so went inside.

When he found Buchanan was not there he left, he said. He denied stealing the helmet and keys.

Wayne told the court, "I went inside, that's all."

After Mr. Guy said he could not find a charge to answer on the stealing, Sgt. Wuiske adopted his suggestion he revert to the original charge.

Mr. Guy said the case was not a serious one of trespassing with intent so he would impose a small fine.

He fined Wayne $150, or 15 days' imprisonment.

Jennings offers $55,000 for Social Welfare

Jennings Industries Ltd., current developers of the large Riverdene estate north of Werribee, have offered a total of $55,000 for Council social welfare programmes and residents' self-help projects.

However some of the money comes with definite strings attached.

For example, a contribution of $4000 will be made only if a children's neighborhood
home is established within North Werribee
by 1980.

A breakdown of the areas in which the donations will be made is given below:

Community buildings
on the estate: $10,000; Communications (Public transport): $8,000;
Community development officer: $6,000;
Child care: $5,000; Shire of Werribee Community Development Group,
$1,000; Direct donations
to resident groups by developer, $25,000.

stated that with a total of 1100 homes occupied by 1979, there would be an urgent need for preschool facilities.

They would be prepared to give $10,000
dollars towards the cost of this building, provided that it was operating in 1979.

Jennings suggested that the building would be multi-use, and that it could possibly be one of Jennings' own designs.

Communications

It was noted that the bus service in the vicinity of the Riverdene estate was inadequate.
An offer of $6000 was made by Jennings, spread over the three years 1978-80, to subsidise a regular and frequent 7-days a week
service to the area.

Jennings also offered
$2000, to be paid in late 1977-78, to finance the Council's promotion of the need for a vastly improved Werribee-
Melbourne public transport system.

A suggestion was made in the submission that Council give top priority to moves to upgrade railway crossings, considering the fact that most future development in Werribee will occur north of the railway line, on the opposite side to the shopping centre and the highway.

Jennings requested that Council arrange for a public telephone and mail box to be installed at the estate in the latter half of 1977.

Community Development Officer

Jennings has offered a sum of $6,000, to be paid over the years 1978-80, to subsidise the employment of a Community Development Officer.

The firm suggested that such a donation could be used as a catalyst to attract similar offers from other developers.

Child Care

Jennings is aware that facilities for child day care within Werribee are in short supply in relation to the high rate of female unemployment.

An offer of $1,000, to be paid over 1978-79,
has been made to subsidise research and investigation on establishing a system of neighbourhood homes within the Shire.

Also, an offer of $4,000 will be paid if such a neighbourhood day-care centre is established in North Werribee by 1980.

Werribee Shire Community Development Group

A contribution of $1,000 will be made by Jennings to the Werri-
bee Shire Community Development Group,
and it is expected that a significant proportion of this sum will be expended in the youth resources field.

Direct Donations
to Resident Groups

From the Jennings experience over the selling period of an estate,
there are many requests by local groups (social, welfare, religious, educational, cultural and sporting) for donations.

Also over a lengthy selling period, provision should be made for funds to be available for facilities or programmes that at this point in time are not planned for, but at a later date will be identified as necessary,
by the local 'Riverdene'
residents.

A fund of $25,000 will be directly administered by Jennings during the estate selling period, in providing assistance to local resident needs, as they become known and expounded by the 'Riverdene' residents.

New Cr. misses induction

Newly elected Altona councillor, Graeme Hosken, missed out on his own induction ceremony at last Friday's special council meeting.

The meeting was held primarily for the installation of Altona's new mayor, and for the induction of new councillors.

However Cr. Hosken, a newcomer to the council, was committed to an interstate trip and now won't be officially sworn in until next week's ordinary council meeting.

Other successful candidates at the recent election, Cr. Steve Clement and Cr. David Graham, were sworn in at the meeting in front of a large gallery which included Werribee MLA, Mr. Neville Hudson and Melbourne West MLC, Mr. Alex Knight.

Cr. Graham in his first term, and Cr. Clement, now in his second both thanked the people of Altona for their support at the election.

"I thank the ratepayers for their trust, and I only hope I can live up to that trust... and help this good council," said Cr. Graham.

Earlier, Mr. Knight had presented Cr. Grant with his chains of office.

In his inaugural mayoral speech Cr. Grant said that Altona is "the envy of all other western suburbs" municipalities, not only because of the material things which we have... but also because of the sense of community and partnership which exists."

Talking about the future, Cr. Grant admitted that there is still some work to be done.

"The development of the explosives reserve area (already announced $10 million); the further improvement in transport, are two points not yet to my satisfaction.

"The extension of the sewerage campaign and the establishment of the already announced arrangements for the briquette dump are others..."

"Further improvement on welfare matters and jobs for the unemployed youth are other topics for concern," he said.

Altona Council set the mayor's allowance for the year at $3750, for his own use, payable quarterly.

Strong winds cause losses

The strong south easterly winds again proved too much for many of the birds competing in the Western Suburbs Pigeon Federation's eight race for the season last weekend.

Heavy losses were recorded in the 368 kilometre race from Serviceton, near the South Australian border.

The best bird of the day was owned by J. Brog, of the St. Albans club, with a velocity of 1026.61.

LIGHTNING BOW-OUT FOR SEAGULLS

Williamstown bowed out of the VFA's first division competition in an inglorious manner on Sunday, when they went down by 19 points to Prahran in a lightning premiership round.

The Seagulls met Prahran of the VFA-CUB Lightning mintues. And after leading by 3-2 to 3-1 in Williams- town's favor — Prahran turned on the steam in the second half to win 7-4 (46) to the Seagulls' 4-3 (27).

Badly missed in the Seagulls' line-up were centre-half back MAL Allen and centre-half forward Andrew Donnelly.

But the Gulls started well with two quick goals and supporters thought their team was going to regain some face.

This was true until the end of the first 18 minutes.

Williamstown's goal of the day came from Jeff Scott, who resisted train- ers trying to carry him off the ground after an injury and elected to take his kick and raised two flags.

Early in the second half Williamstown goaled again and went to a seven point lead.

But that was the end. Prahran took advantage of the wind, took the lead and held it.

Williamstown goals: John Nash 2, Jeff Scott, John Potter.

Williamstown best: Neil Courtot, Jeff Scott (until injured), John Nash, Frank Porcivina, Gary Simpson, Tony McVeigh.

West Newport left it too late and it cost them the preliminary final to Williamstown on Saturday.

WILLI CYMS 18.10.118 defeated West Newport 17.10.112.

Although West had first use of the assisting wind, the CYMS kept constant pressure on and did remarkably well to finish only 6 points down at quarter time.

During the second quarter West could not match the desperation of their opponents, and gave way to countless free kicks as the CYMS led by 12 points at half time.

As in the first half many of West's players continued their lethargic play, with teamwork the exception rather than the rule, as WEST faced a 24 point deficit at the last change.

Kicking into the wind and with the rain making things even more difficult, West suddenly transformed into the smooth running, well oiled machine that their supporters had been waiting for.

Unfortunately, West had left their run much too late as they reduced the lead and were in the process of another assault on the goals when the siren sounded the end of the season for them.

Shock loss

Maidstone suffered a shock defeat by Williamstown in the preliminary final of the Western Suburbs Table Tennis Association's winter competition on Saturday.

Williamstown climbed from fourth position on the ladder and will now meet Newport in the grand final following its victory over Maidstone 3-0.

Maidstone's Colin Thompson provided some stiff competition to Barry Harrison, but was defeated 21-10, 24-22, 22-20.

In E-grade Williamstown Jacksons, who finished second on the ladder were defeated by SWAD in a very close game which was decided in the final rubber by SWAD's O'Brien defeating C. Porter 21-18, 21-14 to give them the match 6-5.

Preliminary final A-grade results were: Williamstown defeated Maidstone 3-0.

A-Reserves — Spotswood defeated Williams- town United 6-0.

B-grade semi finals — Newport defeated Altona North Rebels 6-3; Hick Timbers defeated Altona Y. Club 6-5.

C-grade preliminary finals — Sunshine defeat- ed Altona Y. Club 6-3.

D1 grade — Ordinance SCD Naval Dockyard 6-3. D2 grade — Spotswood Stars defeated Ordinance Rebels 6-3.

E-grade — SWAD de- feated Williamstown Jack- sons 6-5.

Aggregate winners A-grade — B. Taylor, A-Reserves — P. Berry, B-grade — I. Schofield, C-grade — D. Ross, D1 grade — M. Hodgson, D2 grade — D. Simpson, E-grade — J. Paton.

THE Arnold Palmer METHOD

DON'T STIFFEN LEGS ON IRON SHOTS

It's important to keep some flex in your knees when you're executing an iron shot. If you stiffen your legs during the swing, you're likely to end up with a mis-hit shot. You'll hit the ground behind the ball, or hit only the top half of the ball. The reason for this is that stiffening the knees tends to throw the clubhead off its proper path.

To get the crisp iron shots you want, practice maintaining some flex in both knees until you have made contact with the ball. Then straighten the left leg after the ball has taken off.

Lacrosse teams in three grand finals matches

Williamsown A, under 19 and under 16 lacrosse teams all made their way to their respective grand finals after a very successful day on Saturday at Grand Reserve, Altona.

The Fearons came out firm favorites for the flag after their comfortable win 25-14 in the second semi against Chadstone.

The first quarter was very telling on the opposition as Williamstown went to a 7-1 lead.

Because of the close checking play all over the field Chadstone didn't score until late in the term.

Chadstone tried to re- vive in the following quar- ters but Williamstown withheld, winning each quarter.

The forwards combined well all day netting 15 of the total between them, with Alan Rolley giving assistance.

Ron Twomey showed a return to form in the centre and on the forward line.

Best players were Spi- cer, Butkewitz and O'Keefe. Goals — B. Smith 7, Spicer 6, Butkewitz, Twomey 3, Rolley and Morley 2, Cordell and Gar- nsworthy 1 each.

The B grade team playing their pre- liminary final against Malvern were out- classed all day and went down 29-5. Despite their loss it is of great credit to them in the way they have fought their way to the finals.

Best player were Roberts, D. Wilkinson and R. Wilkinson. Goals — D. Ailkinson 3, Fraser and McGuigan one each.

After being down 4-6 at the first change, Flazza's under 19 team came out in the second term to out-score their opposition 10-1. This pattern of play continued with Williams- town running out winners 29-9.

If the forwards keep up their accuracy next week in the grand final the team should do well.

Best players — New- man, Pike, Tuck. Goals — Tuck 9, Lewers 5, M. Jennings, Flattery and Kennedy 4, Newman 2, Vanderweert 1.

Keka's under 16 team won their second semi final 21-8 firming to odds on favorites for the flag, and justifying their top position on the ladder.

Best players were New- man, P. Jennings and Pike. Goals — Vanderweert 7, Newman 5, Madonia Meyer, 3, Kennedy 2 and Butler one.

Altona makes final

Altona A grade lacrosse side made their way into the preliminary final, defeating Malvern by seven goals.

Altona was down a goal at quarter time, but by the end of the second quarter this situation was in reverse with the help of R. Dole, B. John- ston, C. Nichols and D. Gerrard.

The pressure was really on during the second half as Altona applied new de- fence tactics under the leadership of B. Allen and I. Baker, M. Huges and John Winn.

It paid off. Altona was riding high scoring eight goals to Malvern's two.

The coaches, J. Bunnet and R. Beniderks produc- ed the winning moves by playing M. Capuano and P. Chirichello from the under 14 side.

Best players were R. Dole, D. Leroy, M. Huges, W. Allan, D. Gerrard, C. Nicholls and M. Plant.

Goals — Dole 1, Nichols 5, Gerrard 7.

Assistants — Nichols 3, Plant 2, Johnstone, Shil- lingford, T. Leroy, D. Leroy, Dole 1.

Specialist swimming

A club for swimming enthusiasts who would like to learn synchronized swimming has been formed in the Western Suburbs.

Synchronized swimming is the perfect alternative for those who enjoy their sport in the water but who do not want to race.

And it's not expensive. Experienced coaches will be made available to train those interested and the only cost involved is the cost of joining the club plus a minimal charge for pool usage.

Interested? Call Mr Pat- erson on 399 1311 ext. 243 during business hours or 741 3222 after hours.
